

Reminder: Apply Now to Join the Water Conservation Committee

Deadline: 5 p.m. on Friday, Sept. 30

The City of Santa Fe is currently accepting applications for vacant positions on its Water Conservation Committee. As an advisory group for the City, the Committee assists with policy recommendations and evaluates specific programs related to water conservation.

The Water Conservation Committee was established in 2002 to promote water conservation and advise elected officials on relevant topics. The Committee provides input on the identification, implementation and effectiveness of various water conservation programs including policy, rebates, media and public outreach and education. The Committee's membership includes persons with the following expertise: landscaping, building construction, education, land use policies, technical expertise in hydrology or engineering, and water quality.

Candidates are appointed by the Mayor and approved by the City Council and are assigned a two-year term limit with the opportunity to serve up to three consecutive terms, but may be reappointed following a minimum one-year hiatus. Committee members dedicate their time to attend regular meetings held on the second Tuesday of the month at 4 p.m.

Community members who have an interest and/or professional expertise in water conservation are invited to apply by submitting a letter of interest and brief resume to Christine Y. Chavez, Water Conservation Manager, Water Conservation Office, at cychavez@santafenm.gov. Deadline to apply is 5 p.m. on Friday, September 30, 2022.
