

Real Issues. Real People. Real New Mexico.

In this week's episode of Inside New Mexico, Steve talks about:

- The recent marijuana Special Session that was a waste of time and money.
- The voting law changes in Georgia.
- Election integrity.
- The strong Hispanic vote for former President Trump.
- The prospect of Trump running again.
- The cost of holding illegal immigrants in the country.
- The importance of keeping to one's political values.

Steve also interviews New Mexico 1st Congressional District candidate Sen. Mark Moores. The nominee talks about the need to help small businesses, support our oil and gas industry, secure our border, improve New Mexico's economy and address Albuquerque's soaring crime rate. Moores explains how his opponent will hurt New Mexico with her radical positions. Moores also discusses the recent legislative and special Session in the state and how these Democrat-led sessions did little to help New Mexicans.
