

Real Issues. Real People. Real New Mexico.

In this week's episode of Inside New Mexico, Steve talks about:

- The fight for election integrity.
- Efforts across the nation to clean up voting laws.
- Concerns about national inflation.
- The devaluation of our currency.
- The threat of China's development of digital currency.
- How New Mexico is hostile to businesses.
- How Democrats are hurting the state's job growth.
- Steve also interviews Amarillo, Texas Mayor Ginger Nelson whose city will be hosting RPNM's Operation Freedom: Positive Change next month. That Republican retreat will feature national speakers, presentations and workshops. It will address key issues facing New Mexico and discuss the optimistic future of the Party and the state by strengthening communities. The Mayor speaks about the big event and how RPNM's retreat will impact Amarillo economically and politically.
- You'll also hear an excerpt from Steve's recent interview with the Wall Street Journal about border security and other issues facing New Mexico.
