NMDOT reminds drivers monsoon season is not over
Road safety can still be compromised by storms

DEMING – The NMDOT works closely with the National Weather Service during the monsoon months, during this period, New Mexico experiences more rain and severe weather making travel difficult. Rainstorms in New Mexico can become severe quickly, so stay tuned to weather forecasts when planning your trip.

Tips to know:

- GO SLOW AND ALWAYS WEAR YOUR SELTBELT
 - Road Conditions may make traveling the posted speed limit unsafe. If it is a highly rainy day, water may pool on the roads, which could cause hydroplaning if you travel too fast.
- KEEP YOUR DISTANCE
 - Leave plenty of room between your vehicle and other vehicles during inclement weather.
- TURN AROUND, DON'T DROWN
 - Never enter any area that has been barricaded due to flooding. It is very dangerous (and costly) if you get stuck and need rescuing.
 - Don't try to drive on a road that is covered in water, turn around and find an alternate route.
- HEADLIGHTS ON FOR SAFETY
 - Make sure others can see you on the road and that you can see the road by turning on your headlights.
- PULL ASIDE, STAY ALIVE
 - If you find yourself in heavy winds, rain, or a dust storm, make sure you keep a strong grip on your vehicle to avoid swerving. If you feel you need to wait out the storm, pull aside as far off the roadway or shoulder area as possible. Turn off your lights and your engine and keep your foot off the brake pedal. If other drivers see your brake lights they may assume you are on the roadway.
- DON'T USE CRUISE CONTROL
 - Never use cruise control when the roads are slippery. Using your cruise control can reduce your control of the vehicle if your tires begin to skid or slip.
- STAY ALERT
 - Storm runoff can loosen boulders and rocks, be alert and look out for falling rocks.
- FOLLOW OUTAGE GUIDELINES
 - If traffic lights are out, treat the intersection like a four-way stop.
- BE PATIENT AND COURTEOUS
 - Highway safety is everyone's responsibility. Do your part to keep yourself and fellow New Mexicans safe on the road.
